

CONFERENCE ANNOUNCEMENT

Wagner's World, 22-26 May 2013

To mark the 200th anniversary of the birth of Richard Wagner on 22 May 2013, the School of Music, University of Leeds will host the international conference 'Wagner and his World'.

A formal call for papers will be issued at a later date, but a list of suggested themes is given below; however, we will consider papers on any aspect of Wagner and related studies. We welcome suggestions for other themes, and for discussion panels, round tables, performance workshops and other events. Ideas from practitioners and experts nominally outside the musicological community will be particularly welcome, as will proposals for sessions that encourage interaction between scholars and non-scholars.

Suggested themes:

- Wagner and Literature
- Wagner and the Theatre
- Wagner and the New World
- Wagner and Eastern Europe
- Wagner and Israel
- Wagner in Performance
- Wagner and Cinema
- Wagner and the Future

Please direct all correspondence to: Dr Anastasia Belina: a.belina@leeds.ac.uk or Dr Stephen Muir: s.p.k.muir@leeds.ac.uk

A formal call for papers will be issued early in 2012.
